

Andy Horne was forced to miss the Speyside after rolling his DAMS 4100 while out testing the previous weekend. It is thought that Andy had tried making his own notes of the stage, only to discover the hard way that they didn't quite work properly!

Paul MacKinnon and Ewan MacGillivray's class win on the Speyside also saw them clinch this year's Belmont 205 Ecosse Challenge with three rounds remaining. In addition the result has moved MacKinnon, the son of multiple Tour or Mull winner Neil, to the top of the Junior standings in the County Saab Scottish Championship with two rounds to go.

17-year-old Ford Rallye Academy graduate Alick Kerr will contest the new four-round Ecosse 205 Challenge Autumn Cup that began on last weekend's Speyside Stages. Kerr will contest the next round of the series, the Park Systems Furniture Stages on September 10, with ex-Scottish Champion John Bennie on the notes.

Iain Urquhart's email address was incorrectly printed last week. Anyone who wishes to help him with his trip to Peru later in the year can contact him by emailing: oldsnowman@btinternet.com.
